Chamber contemplates computer links

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce was presented with further information on hooking the Chamber's computer into the information highway, at last week's meeting.

Melanie Kossey and Vicki Brooker represented the Chamber at Tuesday's demonstration by Bill Foster and Julie Meyer of the North East Alberta Marketplace import replacement project, held in Town Council Chambers. The demonstration, also attended by Town Council members and Town Administrator Curt Svendsen, showed the information which has been collected on businesses in 14 communities in northeast Alberta. The Company Information System, containing over 4000 entries, is to be loaded into the Chamber's computer at the end of February.

Svendsen told the Chamber that there is also another data system almost ready to come on stream, called the Business Attraction Information System, or BAIS, which will be connected to the Internet and Winternet systems, and which will carry community profiles of participating municipalities. Hooking into BAIS would mean that any country in the world could obtain information on Elk Point and its businesses through Internet or Winternet.

The Chamber originally obtained the computer for use with the Open Bidding System (OBS), but that system has now been tendered out to a contractor in Ottawa, which means that a cost is involved in obtaining information through it. At this point, it is not clear if the Chamber could purchase a membership and obtain this information for its members, or if the companies themselves would have to have an OBS membership to receive tender documents through this system. Further details will be reported to the Chamber as they become available.

Hooking the computer to any network would require a dedicated telephone line for the computer modem. Other expenses would include paper for the printer and a maintenance agreement for the computer and printer, plus the cost of hooking into the OBS system if it were determined feasible to do that.

One question to be determined by the Chamber is who will pay these expenses if a decision is made to hook into the system.

Two newcomers were welcomed to Chamber. Don McKernan, general manager of the St. Paul/Smoky Lake Business and Community Development Corporation, and Anne Himschoot, its community development coordinator, were welcomed at the meeting. Dave Yake is the SP/SL BCDC representative from Elk Point.

Several upcoming seminars and conferences were discussed by the Chamber, including the Vermilion Economic Development Seminar on March 31 and April 1 and the Alberta Conference on Tourism, March 12 to 14 in Jasper.

A financial report on the Christmas Extravaganza was presented, with a potential profit of over $700, once all the sponsorship and advertising fees are all in.

Ag Society's debt shrinking

Elk Point and District Agricultural Society's move last fall to divide into two facility operating committees and an overall executive appears to be working well. The massive debt was divided between the two committees, and innovative ways to pay it off are being discovered.

The Society's general meeting last week was told that the $25,000 annual grant was received by the Society and used toward last fall's mortgage payment, prior to the November 28 split of the debt. Both the Arena Operating Committee, who are responsible for 62% of the debt, and the Fairgrounds Committee, responsible for 38%, are comfortable with their current financial situations.

The Arena Operating Committee had made a $5000 payment toward the debt principal prior to that meeting, and have made another $6500 payment since then, thanks to the generosity of clubs, individuals and corporate donors, as well as successful fundraising activities. Both the children's festival and the skate-a-thon made more money than predicted.

The arena has seen a slight decline in the income from minor hockey and figure skating, and have four less commercial hockey teams and no broomball team this year. Concession income is also lower, but the committee's treasurer, Betty Callbeck, says they "will make it through the year all right." Operating Committee Chairman Kevin Bjornstad is still optimistic about fundraising, and says that money is even coming from unexpected sources to pay down the debt.

The Fairgrounds Committee has used the proceeds from their Heifer Raffle to pay their November payment, and is currently bringing in $500 a night with their jackpots. They expect to gain between $5000 and $10,000 from their upcoming rodeo, and are also planning another raffle. However, treasurer Charlene Baker said the committee will "have to ask for donations for sponsorship, so we don't know what we're doing with debt reduction."

The Society has been approved for two more bingos, on February 11 and April 29. The Arena Operating Committee is hoping to operate the April 29 event, while Society is asking that the February date be deferred to fall.

The gate project at the fairgrounds has had its completion date extended to June 30.

Plans for Canada Day were discussed, and could include a one-day slowpitch tournament in addition to the traditional beerfest and dance.

Strong families communicate well

"The greatest gift I can receive from anyone is to be seen by them, to be heard by them, to be understood by them, and to be touched by them." This quote by Virginia Satir expresses the key to good communication in families.

How wonderful it is to have someone see your side of things and really understand how you feel. It's a great thing to experience. However, if we're not careful, the needs and pressures of the moment often block this kind of understanding.

No one is born knowing how to communicate effectively. Children need to be shown how to listen as well as to talk. Grownups may need to unlearn bad habits that they have developed over the years.

Families who want to become stronger can learn to communicate better - saying what needs to be said while taking the other person into consideration and listening.

We often think that communication means words but in fact only a small part of communication is the words we say. Our posture, gestures, and eye contact or lack of eye contact may tell the other person more than our words do. For an experiment, try turning on the TV with no sound. You can probably figure out what the person on the screen is saying without hearing.

Reaching Out and Touching: Touching is an important aspect of communications in families. A hug or squeeze, an embrace, a touch of the hand can communicate in many ways when words seem empty. Affectionate physical touch can pave the way for good verbal communication. A kindly sense of humor can be a way of expressing affection. It's another way of communicating good will.

Learning to Listen: One of the biggest reasons family members have trouble really listening to each other is that the listener's feelings get in the way. Let's say ten-year-old Brian comes home with a torn shirt and a black eye. One thing is sure, sooner or later he is going to need someone to listen to what happened. At the same time, you as the parent may have some very strong feelings - concern for him, anger at the other child, anger at your own child for fighting, or all three feelings. In order to listen effectively to Brian, you will have to set aside your own feelings for the time being. As long as you are concentrating on your own feelings and concerns you cannot really hear the other person.

The other important part of good listening is to look for that person's feelings beneath the words. As a caring family member, it's easy to try to cheer the other person up, talk him or her out of the feelings, or give advice. However, the best gift you can give to a loved one is to let that person know that you understand what he or she is trying to say. Anger needs direction and some curbing to bring about healthy changes.

Let's return to Brian. He says, "Hey, Mom, this big kid on the playground chased me all the way home. I tripped and he beat me up." The most helpful thing you can do is to ask yourself, "What must Brian be feeling about this?" Instead of asking who the other boy was or giving advice on how to stay out of trouble you can say, "That must have been pretty scary!" Brian knows you've really heard him and he will probably go on to tell you more. Later on, after things have calmed down, is a better time to talk about how to avoid fights or what to do next time he sees the other child.

In every family, conflict is bound to come up at times. Read next week's column on ideas for making arguments constructive rather than destructive, and for keys to better communication.

ALZHEIMER SUPPORT GROUP

There will be a meeting of the Alzheimer Support Group on Wednesday, January 25, 1995 from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. in the Extencicare Conference Room (4614 - 47th Ave., St. Paul). There will be discussions and videos. Refreshments will be served. For more information call Normande Tannas at 645-3375.

REACH OUT AND MAKE A DIFFERENCE

In Elk Point there are people who, for one reason or another, may not be able to fill out their tax return. You can lend a hand by attending a volunteer workshop to learn how to complete straightforward tax returns. Once the course is completed you will then be able to reach out and help your community by completing tax returns for those in need. FCSS matches volunteers with clients and all information is kept strictly confidential. Reference materials and ongoing assistance will be provided and these tax returns are given priority by Revenue Canada. So reach out and make a difference by attending this taxation workshop on Wednesday, February 8 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Further Education Centre. There is no cost for the workshop. Participants just need to bring a calculator and brown bag lunch. To register or for more information call FCSS at 724-3800.

COMMUNITY AND VOLUNTEER DIRECTORIES

The Community Directory lists frequently called numbers, meeting dates of local clubs, as well as a brief description of the mandates of community organizations. The Community Leaders Inventory lists local individuals and/or agencies with expertise in a given area. It outlines the many skilled and knowledgeable individuals in our area that we can call upon as resources. The Volunteer Directory provides a description of local organizations that utilize volunteers. This is followed by specific volunteer information and opportunities. FCSS is in the process of completing the 1995 update. Copies will be printed and mailed out in January to all those who participated in the update. Other copies are available on request.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING WITH YOUR LIFE?

After the Christmas break, the teacher asked her small pupils who they spent their holiday. One little boy, who had visited his grandparents in a retirement park, replied:

"We spend Christmas with Grandma and Grandpa. They used to live up north in a big house, but Grandpa retarded and they moved to a city. They live in a park with lots of other retarded people. They all live in huts. They ride tricycles that are too big for me. They all go to a building they call the wrecked hall, it is fixed now. They all do exercises, but not very well. They play a game with big checkers and push them around with sticks. There is a swimming pool, but I guess nobody teaches them... they just stand there in the water with their hats on.

My Grandma used to bake cookies for me, but nobody cooks there. They all go to restaurants that are fast and have discounts. When you come into the park, there is a dollhouse with a man sitting in it. He watches all day so they can't get out without him seeing them.

I guess everybody forgets who they are because they all wear badges with their names on them. Grandma and Grandpa worked hard all their lives to earn their retardment. I wish they'd move back home, but I guess the man in the dollhouse won't let them out."

Library membership, circulation drop in 1994

Both membership and circulation dropped in 1994, according to statistics presented at the 1995 Elk Point Public Library Annual General Meeting. A decline in membership which started in 1993 continued through 1994, with another 32% drop this year. Out-of-town registrations dropped by 50% but still made up 31% of the membership, while in-town registrations dropped 18%, and make up 69% of library users. Last year, 57.5% were from in town and 42.5% from out of town.

The Northern Lights

Library System instituted their user fees for the first time in 1994, and this may have contributed to the decline in out-of-town members. It was also suggested that some people who had previously taken out family memberships, with multiple cards, were now taking out an individual membership instead, due to the extra cost.

The library was also hit with a 6% drop in provincial grants last year, according to the report by Board Chairman Andrew Ross. Ross also outlined the advantages of the NLLS, saying that the library saved $1546, or 31%, on the purchase of 417 new books and videos through the System. These purchases were made possible through the library's book allotment and through donations by the Friends of the Library, Elk Point Lions and Lioness, Elk Point Oilmen's Association and Elk Point BPO Elks. The library also received donations of equipment and furniture for the library, thanks to Norcen Energy Resources, Canadian Salt Company, Amoco Canada and Gwen Nelson. Ross thanked all the volunteers for their efforts, including the Library Board, those who work in the library and those who donate their time to fundraise.

Librarian Michele Ducek reported on her first year behind the desk, including Ross' attendance at the Jasper Library Conference, the Rural Libraries Conference which both she and Ross attended, and the NLLS Mini Conference, which was attended by both also. Personnel changes included the replacement of student helper Neil Leckie with Jaylene Purdy. The library had a very successful Summer Reading Program with a rodeo theme, and two local participants were prize winners in a province-wide poetry contest. The library was also a prize-winner, winning the 'Best Theme' category in the NLLS Christmas Tree contest. The library took part in the First Night Fest, as well. Some changes have been made to the library layout, and more steps on the road to automation were taken.

Election of the 1995 executive followed the Annual Meeting, with Andrew Ross returned as Chairman, Gwen Nelson named Vice-Chair, and Eugene Buck taking on the dual role of Secretary-Treasurer.

Council will stay at 7 members

First reading of a bylaw to reduce the size of Elk Point Town Council from seven to five members was defeated on a 4 to 2 margin at last week's regular meeting. The possibility of a smaller council was raised at their January 3 meeting, but the majority of Council felt that the load of Council committees and Town representatives on other bodies warrants the current number being retained. The size of Council must now remain at 7 until 1998, when there will be another general election.

A large portion of the meeting was spent on a presentation by William Dolman of Municipal Planning Service (Alta.) Ltd., who is currently the subdivision approval authority for 75 municipalities. The Province announced last fall that as of April 1, 1995, planning services would no longer be provided by the Department of Municipal Affairs, as part of their deregulation and delegation of duties to municipalities. At that time, Dolan and his co-workers at Municipal Affairs put together a proposal for the government offering to do subdivision planning for them on a contract basis. "They told us we could start January 1," he said. Towns can ask Municipal

Affairs for permission to hire their own subdivision approval authority if they wish, "otherwise, we're it."

Dolman told Council that the use of their services for subdivision approval and occasional questions regarding subdivision would not cost the Town any more than they are paying now. However, he feels there is potential for some development here, "and when it happens, we'll make money."

When the Municipal Act is changed, which could take until late October, the Town would be enabled to deal with subdivision applications themselves, and Dolman said his firm "will be front and centre then, with options to help you deal with the subdivision process." In the meantime, he cautioned Council "not to do a lot" until they find out what it contains. Dolman also plans to put in a bid at such time as the Town's planning bylaw needs redoing.

Mayor Ed Buck and Councillor Dave Yake were selected to sit on the new Elk Point and District Ambulance Board. A bylaw to allow the Town to enter into an agreement with Elk Point and District Ambulance was given all three readings.

Gas bills shrink

More than the mild winter is making Elk Point residents' gas bills shrink this year. A Public Utilities Board hearing on November 24, 1994 approved an application by Elk Point Gas Ltd. for a price decrease of 13.2 cents per gigajoule. The new gas rates were retroactive to November 1, 1994.

Residential customers now pay $3.738 per GJ, down from $3.870, while commercial customers pay $3.558, down from $3.690, and industrial customers pay $3.408, down from $3.540.

View Points

Minor Hockey is the greatest!

In a winter when professional sport has been plagued with lockouts and holdouts, we have all gained a new appreciation of the sports we have right here in our own back yard. One of these is Minor Hockey - a sport which has always had a loyal contingent of fans, but which has gained even more in this time when the only hockey on television tended to be from the 1970s or before.

Minor hockey is made possible because of the ongoing cooperation between a lot of people, and during this Minor Hockey Week, we would like to extend a special vote of thanks to them all.

First of all, the sponsors, who help with the costs associated with getting a team of youngsters outfitted and on the road to league games and tournaments. Some of Elk Point's minor hockey team sponsors have been with those teams a lot of years, and it's great, in these days of multiple cutbacks, to see them hanging in there and contributing to the community's youth in this way.

Then there's the coaching staff who give something which is quite often more difficult to find than money, even: their time. As anyone who has done this will tell you, coaching or managing a hockey team takes a lot of this precious commodity. As most of them will also tell you, it's well worth it, when you feel the excitement with which your team makes that winning goal, and see the pride in their eyes when they accept trophies from a tournament.

And of course, there are the parents, who foot the bill for registration fees and the increasingly expensive equipment, haul kids to practices, games and tournaments, and stay to cheer them on. They are there for their kids, and those kids do appreciate it.

And most of all, there are the kids. Today's hockey players get a great amount of enjoyment out of participating in their sport, and will probably go on to do as their predecessors did - they will grow up and coach another generation of minor hockey. Just look at the pictures from the A. G. Ross Arena's early days - you'll see some names there that are on today's arena operating committee and minor hockey rosters. That proves that the value of this popular sport is one which lasts through the years.

Spotlight on Volunteers

Elk Point Palliative Care

By the Palliative Care Group

"Palliative Care" means that treatment aimed at a cure is no longer appropriate. The Palliative Care Plan is designed to provide support and positive quality of life.

We as a working group of volunteers, would like to bring to the attention of the Elk Point community and district that care of the terminally ill is available through this group. Access can be made directly to the Volunteer Coordinator Lois Ramer (724-4358) through Home Care nurses Isabelle Myshaniuk, Norma Lorensen and Helene Brodwin (724-3532) or hospital personnel Colleen Simon, Genny Shmyr and Carolyn Onusko at 724-3847.

This group volunteers in many facets of care, from family respite, to light housekeeping, to driving, to reading, thus including a variety of support services to individuals and their families.

We believe that individuals have the right to die with dignity in a caring environment of their choice. We believe that patients and families need support and that our community has a responsibility to ensure that support services are available. A handbook is available through the hospital and Health Unit.

A personal definition by Lois Ramer, Volunteer Coordinator, follows and has been adopted by this group as one of their objectives...

"The gentle and compassionate presence of the touch of your heart and hands to the one whose body, soul or spirit is unwell. Care given is aimed to alleviate anxiety, fear and perhaps even the physical pain. Support to individuals and families is hoped to replace negative emotions with calm, peace, happiness and hope, and likely a growing acceptance of the condition."

Elk Point Palliative Care Community Action Group is in the birthing stages of development and welcomes volunteers and input from all concerned.

DEBT REDUCTION FUND GETS A BOOST - The A. G. Ross Arena Operating Committee's Debt Reduction Fund got a $5000 boost last week when Ed Grenko, president of Grenco Industries Ltd. made a very generous donation to Operating Committee Chairman Kevin Bjornstad. Other recent donations, from Jorvik Machine Tool and Welding Ltd., Protech Logging Ltd., Dr. Larry Hodinsky, Rockwell Leyen Oilwell Servicing, United Farmers of Alberta and Elk Point Gas Ltd., have allowed the Operating Committee to put another $6500 toward the debt principal. The Operating Committee would welcome any amount of donation, and donations of $100 or greater will be engraved on a wooden plaque that has been designed for the arena by Herman Poulin. All other donors will have their names displayed in a framed certificate. Photo by Rilla Higgins.

Beverley Hillbillies come to Elk Point

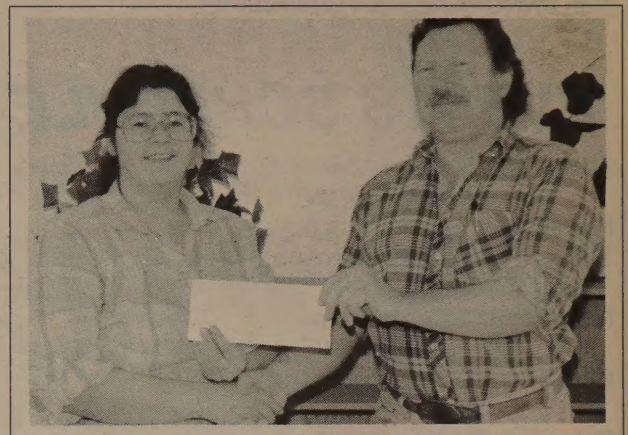

With the memories of "The Truth About Cinderella" still lingering in the community, the Beverley Hillbillies will be arriving in Elk Point on March 17, 18, 24 and 25, 1995 when the Elk Point Community Choir hosts Theatre Nights '95.

In response to public demands, the Elk Point Community Choir has expanded their theatre nights to four nights this year, which will be spread over the last two week-ends of March. The evenings will have the same format as in the past, with seating in the Elk Point Elementary gym at 6:00 p.m., supper at 6:30 p.m., and the show at 8:00 p.m. nightly. A cash bar is available. Tickets are limited for each performance and sell for a price of $15 each.

The performance this year, "The Beverley Hillbillies," is a hilarious comedy starring members of the choir with a little help from a few friends. Tickets are now available for the four nights by calling 724-3785 or they may be purchased at Phil's Home Hardware.

News from Playschool

By Diane Pashulka
Instructor

Here at Jack and Jill Playschool, friendships are made and bonds are created that will continue throughout the school years. The purpose of playschool is primarily to provide play-based socialization for young children. The program consists of songs, stories, games, activities, field trips and much more. Together the experiences are wonderful and numerous.

Our program contains monthly themes based on topics of interest to the child. December was an exciting month, as we discussed

Christmas. We decorated our room with snowflakes, winter scenes and paper plate Santas, and the real Santa even came to visit us at our Christmas parties. One could always hear the cheerful sounds of Christmas carols coming from our room. At our Christmas parties the children made graham cracker houses. I bet there were a few sore tummies from all the icing they ate. I think more of it went in the children's mouths than on their houses. It was great fun. The children entertained the parents with Christmas carols. The children especially liked the part where they got to dress up like Rudolph with a red nose and antlers. Their hearts were filled with pride as they gave their parents the presents of snow angels that they worked so hard to create. It was a busy, exciting month and I missed them all terribly over the Christmas holidays.

During the month of January we continued on with a winter theme. Snowmen, Jack Frost, and winter activities are a few of the topics that we have been discussing lately. The great amount of snowfall we received offered us the chance to get out there and have some fun. Even though the snow wasn't sticky enough to make a 'standing' snowman, it was deep enough to make a 'sleeping' snowman. We gave the snowman a hat, mittens, a face and some buttons. I bet the planes in the sky were even able to see our humongous creation. During the next week or to I hope to get a chance to take the children tobogganing. This would be a special treat for all of us.

The theme for the first few weeks of February will be Valentine's Day. I am looking forward to making Valentine boxes, heart mobiles and hopefully we'll get a chance to make our own chocolates. Valentine's Day falls on a Tuesday and the plans for parties are already in motion.

We encourage anyone who would like to stop in and see our facility and learn more about our program. We are a program for the community and we welcome everyone. Registrations are taken at any time during the year. For more information stop in and see me at Playschool or phone 724-2400. I'm looking forward to hearing from you. Happy Valentine's Day.

Ethnic potluck to close second theme

To close their second theme, "Hands Across the World," the Elk Point Elementary School will be hosting a community ethnic potluck supper on Thursday, January 26 at 6 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Everyone is welcome and is asked to bring one ethnic dish that will be enough for your family. Please mark your dish with your name and the type of food being served. Coffee, juice and cutlery will be provided.

The ethnic dolls created by the numerous school families will be on display until the end of January. Please stop by to view this beautiful display in the hallway by the office.

The Elk Point Elementary School thanks everyone for their contributions to the success of the second theme at the school, and looks forward to working together with everyone in Theme Three which will be announced shortly.

The year just past - in review

...And finally, a rundown of the final months of 1994:

October -

The Town and Alberta Power discussed moving the power substation to a Town-owned property adjacent to the sewer lift station. A recent incident in which Alberta Power punctured a sewer line while installing a guy wire was also discussed... Edlyn Smuk was the overall academic achiever at Heinsburg High Awards Night... Ron Salt became the new president of the Elk Point Agricultural Society at a meeting which gave the society a new direction as an overseeing body with its massive debt split between the Arena Operating Committee and the Fairgrounds Committee... Angie Duocher was crowned Fishing Lake Princess... Council was finally back at full strength, adding Dave Yake, Louis Verhagen and Ron Smith to fill the vacant chairs... Elk Point saluted Great Albertan Sid Holthe with a surprise dinner and program in his honor... The former Community Services Centre was demolished... Elk Point Royal Canadian Legion announced plans for a new cenotaph... After five years of waiting, Elk Point has received word that they will receive a retired CNR caboose.

November -

Elk Point lost its ambulance service as Fred Lambright announced he could no longer afford to run it without subsidies, but was back on the road just over a week later as County and Town provided interim funding while the issue was studied further... A Norway Rat was found in Elk Point and the area was put on the lookout for others... War dead were remembered with a well attended indoor ceremony... Supreme Honored Royal Lady Elaine Hennell of the OORP of Canada was welcomed to Elk Point... Northbound 41's Woytkiw family were named Small Businesspeople of the Year by the Chamber... Pan Canadian Petroleum announced plans to double production in 1995... Heinsburg Eagles won both the boys' and girls' Volleyball County Cups... Jim Penz of St. Paul skipped the winners at the Town and Country

Bonspiel... The Town of Elk Point agreed to cover the $1160 FCSS deficit.

December -

The month just past saw the Chamber's Christmas Extravaganza warm up a frosty Friday, further discussion of ambulance funding, ratepayers helping to prepay the curb and gutter debenture, Fine Arts at the high school and concerts for the Community Choir and the Elementary students, as Elk Point got ready for Christmas and wound down another year of history.

Ukrainian Dance Club news

Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club has 46 dancers this year. These dedicated dancers are practicing hard preparing for dance competitions, dancing locally and at their upcoming May 13 concert.

The Dance Club held a successful bake sale in conjunction with the OORP craft sale. At this time we would like to thank the following businesses and people for their help, contributions and dedication during our perogy, cabbage roll and cheese roll making. Thanks very much to Elk Point Co-op, Golden Loaf Bakery, Home Town Grocers, F. G. Miller High School home ec room, the Senior Citizens Centre and the babas who come so faithfully to help our club.

A special thank you to Roger from Footprints for letting the club hang their trophy case in his new business. There is a great display of plaques and trophies that the dancers of present and past are very proud of. Visit Footprints and take a look.

The club's next bingo is Monday, February 6 at 5 p.m. at Club Bingo in St. Paul.

Heinsburg resident awarded scholarship

Kirsten Sanders of Heinsburg, a first year Bachelor of Arts student at Augustana University College in Camrose was among 277 students at that institution who were presented with scholarships and grants for the 1994-95 school year at the recent Scholarship Reception.

Miss Sanders received a $300 Fine Arts Grant in Music.

Approximately 475 guests attended the reception, including the scholarship recipients, the city Mayor, Camrose County representatives, Augustana administration and faculty, and scholarship donors from the community.

Together with the community, Augustana provided over $314,500 in scholarships to its students. Awards are made on the basis of academic, fine arts, leadership and athletic qualifications, as well as financial need.

An accredited member of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Augustana is a liberal arts and science university offering three and four year arts and science degree programs with specializations in 21 areas.

Replacement physician to relieve Elk Point doctor

A rural locum physician will be serving the residents of Elk Point from January 16 - 27, 1995 while Dr. Keith McNeilly is away from the community.

The Rural Locum Program, initiated by Alberta Health and the Alberta Medical Association, provides temporary replacements for rural physicians who are away on education, vacation or sick leave. With this program, area residents are assured of continuous medical services, and the local doctor is provided relief. This unique service is an initiative of the Rural Physician Action Plan developed to improve recruitment and retention of physicians in small rural communities like Elk Point.

Dr. David Brooks resides in Calgary and joined the Rural Locum Program on a part-time basis. He joined the Rural Locum Program to keep in touch with rural family practice. He enjoys working in many different settings in rural Alberta.

The first portion of Dr. McNeilly's vacation, from December 15, 1994 to January 15, 1995, has been covered by longtime Elk Point physician Dr. K. C. Miller.

They're here - new arrivals for 1995

By Michele Duczek

Librarian

Regular readers of this column might be starting to wonder if I'm ever going to talk about new books again. The answer is 'yes' and here are the first new arrivals for 1995.

All those who like the Babysitters Club and its various offshoots should come in and check out the latest in the various series. I have two Babysitters mysteries, one Super Special and a regular book as well as two Babysitters Little Sisters. Other series arrivals include Nancy Drew, Hardy Boys, Road to Avonlea and something by the ever-popular R. L. Stine.

THANK YOU

LUKEVICH

The family of the late John Lukevich would like to express our sincere gratitude to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who supported us during the loss of our dear husband and father. Thank you for your calls, flowers, cards, food, visits and prayers.

Also donations to the Cross Cancer Institute are greatly appreciated. A special thanks to the pallbearers and to Father Levasseur for the beautiful and spiritual prayer service and Mass. To all those who attended the services — thank you for the comfort of your presence. A very special thanks to John and Caroline Yewchin for your compassionate assistance.

Your generosity and kindness will always be cherished in our hearts.

Marlene & Family

Hot off the presses is Catherine Cookson's latest offering, Justice is a Woman. The book is set in the years leading up to the Second World War and deals with a man and a woman and the stresses and strains on their marriage.

Len Deighton has come out with a new novel called Faith. This is the first in a new trilogy featuring Deighton's character Bernard Samson. Our hero's life becomes complicated when his wife returns, his children are grabbed by his father-in-law and his job becomes threatened. Throw in a little Cold War intrigue and it makes for an exciting mix.

Robin Cook remains up-to-the-minute with his latest medical thriller Acceptable Risk. A drug researcher comes up with a new antidepressant based on a grain mold that may have caused the visions in the Salem witch trials. His research collides with a woman's quest of self understanding.

Fitness guru and fat detective Susan Powter has a new book that tells you how to change food from the enemy to something to be enjoyed. Titled Food, this book is full of tips, hints, suggestions, facts and recipes, and anecdotes from Powter's own experiences.

Two more videos have been added to our collection. Both are animated videos based on children's picture books. The Day Jimmy's Boa Ate the Wash contains four stories based on books by different authors. The James Marshall Library contains four stories by James Marshall and a short documentary about Marshall.

PEP TALK - Senior Girls' basketball coach Ray Danyluk gives his players a pep talk at a recent tournament. It must have worked, because the Crusaders proudly carried home the trophies.

FGM Basketball update

By Kelly Oszust

F. G. Miller High School

On Thursday, January 19 the Junior High Crusaders played a basketball game against the St. Paul Racette Raiders. The boys won, but unfortunately the girls lost (with better luck in the future, I hope). Their next game is next Thursday.

The boys' coach is Gord West, the captain Tyson Ballas and co-captain Kyle Bintz. The coaches for the girls' team are Patti Krekoski and Judy Veer. The captains are Michelle Hutton and Pam Veer.

Last Friday and Saturday the senior high girls had a basketball tournament in St. Paul. The outcome was great! They came in first place. This past weekend the boys had a tournament in Fort Saskatchewan. I hope they do as well.

Elks have a 1 -1 week

Elk Point Elks had some good luck and some bad luck last week. The good luck came Wednesday, when they defeated the visiting Marwayne Comets 3 to 1. Cory Laboucane scored one goal in each of the first and third periods, unassisted in the first and assisted by Kerry Loughran and Allan Loughran in the latter, while Jon Olson scored one in the second period off an assist by goalie Curtis Porcina. Marwayne's lone goal came near the end of the first period, when Iko Hines scored off an assist by Kevin Holzinger.

The bad luck came Friday night, when Bonnyville -Pontiacs cruised into town. Although the Elks had a 3 - 0 lead at the end of the period, thanks to two goals from the red-hot scoring combination of Blair Halfe, assisted by Sheldon Cardinal and Billy Halfe, and one from Cory Laboucane, assisted by Kerry Loughran, things went downhill fast from then on.

The Pontiacs sped into the second period with four goals in the first 7 minutes, Sylvio Vasseur, Doug Bartoli, Luc Vincent and Lee Rancier hitting the mark off assists by Vincent, Vasseur, Garth Campbell, Rob Cadieux and Mat Ferrsovich. Rick Austin evened things out with a goal assisted by Laboucane, and scored again off an assist by Allan Loughran to put the Elks out in front momentarily. Ferrsovich, assisted by Rancier, tied the game with 1:33 remaining in the second period.

Two more fast goals from Bonnyville's Doug Bartoli, assisted by Vincent and Vasseur, and by Rob Cadieux, assisted by Ferrsovich, ended the scoring, but not the action in a very physical, hard fought final period, sending the Pontiacs home with a 7-5 win.

The Elks have two road games this week, travelling to Dewberry on Friday night and to Kitscoty on Sunday. Wednesday's scheduled game against Vermilion has been postponed.

Hunter Education Courses

This year's hunter education courses for both St. Paul and Elk Point have been scheduled to start at the end of January.

The hunter education program is sponsored by Fish and Wildlife for hunters who wish to upgrade their skills. The volunteer instructors will cover a wide variety of subjects such as firearms, gun safety, game recognition, conservation law, first aid, survival, equipment, game management and hunting ethics. The course will run two nights each week for about six weeks.

In St. Paul the course commences Monday, January 30 at 7 p.m. in the St. Paul Regional High School.

Elk Point classes start Tuesday, January 31 at 7 p.m. in the F.G. Miller High School.

The course is open to everyone over the age of 11 who has an interest in the outdoors.

The course content is oriented toward the hunter but a large part of it is applicable to any outdoors person. For first time hunters between age 12 and 14 it is a compulsory requirement to obtain a hunting license. These courses will be the only ones offered this year, so don't miss out!
